Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON

British Unions have been told to expect a change in German attitude toward American aid to Britain. Hilbert, it has been maintained in Berlin that American assistance would be too late to affect the outcome of the war but now the German press criticizes the presidential request for congressional action as an act prolonging the war and postponing peace.

The German government is thus preparing the people for indefinite continuation of the struggle.

It is certain however that before the war began the German general staff must have taken into consideration the United States, would assume one hostilities started. The German high command especially proud itself on its realism.

ADVANCE GIVEN

Thus, the pre-war sentiment of America being known for what it was, there can have been no reason for Hitler's advisers failing to inform him that America probably would try to aid Great Britain by supplying munitions, if a conflict in Europe arose. That this advice

Clash Of British, German Ships In Channel Possible

land, Jan. 8.—(C.P.)—Persons along the Kent coast heard sounds early today which they judged came from a lively fight between German boats and a British patrol.

There was a heavy burst of tracer bullets and machine gun fire which those observers declared sounded as if German boats attempted some reconnaissance or even tried to slip through the patrol, but were intercepted.

BADEN-POWELL, FAMED SCOUT FOUNDER, DIES

Death Follows Illness Of Chief Scout At Home In Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya, East Africa, Jan. 8.—(C.P.)—Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout and Girl Guides and one of the most famous military and military intelligence operatives of modern times, died today at his home at Nyeri, where he had been ill for weeks. He was 83 years old.

Lord Baden-Powell died at 10 a.m. (P.S. p.m. Tuesday, M.S.T.). Funeral services were announced for 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.

(Imperial) Scout headquarters in London announced that Scouts throughout the world would attend a synchronized remembrance service for their chief scout, Lord Baden-Powell, either January 12 or January 19.

ILL FOR LONG TIME

Soldier, sportsman, author, sculptor, defender of Malesing in one of the product actions in recent British history, Lord Baden-Powell had been ill for a long time. His love of nature, which he had made his life, finally gave him the strength to fight off his illness as he had fought numerous actions during his long and distinguished career.

United States Navy Is Reorganized Into Three Main Fleets

Increase Of 42,000 In Naval Manpower Is Authorized By President Roosevelt, Secretary Knox States

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Reorganization of the United States navy into three main fleets—the Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic fleets—was ordered today by Secretary Frank Knox who announced at the same time that President Roosevelt had authorized an increase of 42,000 in naval manpower.

The reorganization, which Knox said "really fits the facts," will be effective Feb. 1 and a new set of commanders, headed by Rear-Admiral Husband E. Kimmel as commander in chief of all fleets, will assume authority on that day.

Kimmel, present commander of battleships of the Pacific fleet, succeeding Admiral James O. Richardson, will be in command of the Atlantic fleet as well as the Pacific fleet.

RAISES STATUS

The changes will raise the status of the present Asiatic fleet force and the Asiatic fleet to that of a fleet. Knox described the future Asiatic fleet as consisting of the approximately 12 ships now in the Asiatic fleet, the Asiatic fleet as the squadron now based in Asiatic waters, and the Pacific fleet now based at Hawaii.

The President's authorization of an increase in the navy's estimated personnel, Knox said, was designed "to take care of the expanding fleet" so that new ships may be given crew at 100 per cent of war strength as fast as they are commissioned.

Rear-Admiral Kimmel J. King will continue as commander of the forces in the Atlantic and Admiral

BLOCKADE IS RELAXED FOR MILK SUPPLY

Britain Grants Red Cross Entry Into France, Reported

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(C.P.)—The British government has agreed to a request from President Roosevelt for the Red Cross to enter into France, to provide foodstuffs for children in unoccupied France to pass through the blockade in violation of the blockade.

SET UP ORGANIZATION

As a result of this meeting they have advised me that they have agreed to enter into an appeal for funds to be made to the Canadian public and that the necessary joint campaign for such funds will open Monday, March 24, 1941, Mr. Gardner said.

In the meantime the representatives of the organizations concerned will meet in Toronto tomorrow to set up the necessary machinery and organization to conduct the fund-raising campaign.

THE government has indicated to me that no further national appeal will be made in this country for the Red Cross campaign for such funds will open Monday, March 24, 1941, Mr. Gardner said.

IMPOSSIBLE PREVIOUSLY

British sources reported that the Rome radio said last night: "Our real defence will be put up further away from Bardia, where the bulk of the Italian army is now. There is a possibility of our having to yield some further points."

Still, experts, including that of the especially well informed London Times, said the Italian advance to the Italian army, or to fall back to Benghazi, 200 miles to the west, where they would be isolated. There is no important battle between Bardia and Tripoli, which is 50 miles farther west.

War Ambulances

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Jan. 8.—(AP)—Four hundred and eighty-five ambulances have been delivered or are being prepared for delivery to Britain. Plans To Request More Billions Soon To Give Britain Aid

Sum Of $17,485,528,049 Makes Up Budget "For Total Defence Of Our Democracy"—Total May Pass 20 Billions

By SANDOR S. KLEIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(BUP)—President Roosevelt today laid before congress a $17,485,528,049 budget "for the total defence of our democracy."

He served notice that he soon will ask still more billions to provide munitions for Britain and other countries battling the Axis.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(BUP)—Getting the budget down to the minimum the U.S. government will be spending money at the rate of $33,267.25 every minute in 1942 to account for the total estimated expenditures of $17,485,528,049.

Informed legislators talked in terms of $3,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 for helping Britain over a long period. Any such sum would push the budget far past $20,000,000,000.

Democracy Is At Stake

But today's budget was all for America—a America in which the president said "democracy as a way of life is at stake."

It is going to cost the American taxpayer a lot more to defend this stake than he is paying now and there will have to be many more taxpayers, but Mr. Roosevelt made no specific recommendations for new taxes.

The when and how of the payoff will have to be worked out at conferences between treasury and congressional experts and Mr. Roosevelt said he hopes that the result will be a completely revised and improved tax system. His broad recommendations seemed to rule out such restrictive taxes as sales levies in favor of higher assessments on incomes, particularly those fattened by the defence program.

Figures Shatter Precedents

The figures he presented for the 1942 fiscal year, beginning this July 1, shattered precedents in almost every category.

Projected spending hit within a billion dollars of the 1918-19 all-time high when the nation actually was at war. Cash outlays for army, navy and other strictly defence items jumped $4,347,399,300 to $10,811,544,600—82 cents out of every dollar proposed to be spent next year.

The army gets $5,056,600,000; the navy, $3,447,394,000. In addition, requested contract authorizations for defence totalled $1,263,931,089, to be paid out of 1943 appropriations.

The new defence items rise the total defence program initiated since June, 1940, to $28,400,000, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Design the huge revenue, the deficit will be $2,010,000,000. It is the 12th consecutive deficit and the largest in peace time since 1919. The national debt will reach $60,000,000,000.

Meat Ration In Britain Will Be 26 CENTS WEEKLY

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(C.P.)—The meat ration for the current week will be 26 cents a week, the Ministry of Food said today. It is the lowest ration since the war began after Lord Woolton, food minister, warned his committee that Britain "no longer bring the world to our door" and urged them to "eat less."

The previous meat ration was one pound six ounces 13½ cents. British ration meat by price, not by weight.

Because of the elevation of sheep within the range of one shilling in the last few months to vary the meat ration at short notice. The price of sheep has risen to one shilling six pence.

Further, in raising establishments will be correspondingly reduced, the ministry announced. The price association said it had learned that as a result of a meeting of the following day at one meat, meat, poultry, cheese, and eggs in the shell.

In-Between Assistance

Men who are in future discharged from Canada's fighting forces and those who have been discharged, and who have no other means of support, are being helped by the in-between assistance. The amount of assistance may be sufficient in some cases, but in many it will not be. But the principle having been established that the country owes the discharged man support until he has a fair opportunity to get on his feet, the amount will have to be regulated according to individual cases.

Until some supervising organization has been built up to administer in-between assistance in detail, the flat grant of a month's pay and allowances will prevent hardship and keep the men and their families going. That some such organization will have to be created is certain, and it will have to be constituted and empowered as to function fairly to both the veterans and taxpayers. A fixed lump sum grant, of any amount, would be unfair to one or in a multitude of cases.

New Troubles For Old

The price of butter has been unpegged at Vancouver, to relieve a situation which has stopped moving in which the establishment of a uniform price left dealers without any financial inducement to ship to that centre. There are other points where the restriction may have to be suspended, for the same reason. The root of the trouble is that there are too many people who are not moving freely under the pegging arrangement. The restriction is a difficulty, but it is not the difficulty, by eating a pound less per head between now and the first of April. The point seems to be that the restriction is not generally doing with less, consumers in some centres will do with little.

The broad moral of the situation is that the price can be satisfied by the government, but a special section only if there is also detailed official control of the distribution of the commodities affected. The government is not price-pegging to become common at the cost and nuisance of having the business of the country run on the lines of a totalitarian state. The alternative is voluntary cooperation to conserve supplies, and thus avoid a condition in which official price-fixing becomes necessary.

On To Tobruk

While the planners were being consulted at Bardia, British-Australian forces were feeling out the defenses of Tobruk, 80 miles farther along the Libyan coast, and the P.M.F. bombed Bardia, Tripoli, and Tobruk, 300 miles beyond that. The suggestion is that the invasion of Libya is to be developed into a blitzkrieg, with the object of rounding up the remainder of the Italian army, capturing the important Libyan ports, and making an end summary of 11 Duce's plans and ambitions for the conquest of the Mediterranean.

Grasiani was sent to Libya to prepare one jaw of the "pincers" by which Egypt and the Red canal could be gripped if a Nazi-Fascist force were made to move into the Sudan and Turkey. That jaw has been broken, but while the Marshall has any considerable force in Libya, the British will have to maintain a strong protective army to bar its way to the Egyptian border. If it is disposed of finally, the British-Australian force can move on to the Egyptian border to confront the drive from the canal from the north—should this still be the purpose of the Nazi army which they avenged their Majors of Christmas day.

At the cutting line on New Year's day a team from Poplar Lake, composed of J. P. Fagan, coach, and a team of horses, administered two defeats to a team from the town fire brigade composed of Stovel, Peltan, McIntyre and Louder.

same thing to do was to be dished and go home, leaving matters as they are.

The Dominion is in a position to be plundered. Neither are the provinces. And the report was not designed that either may benefit at the expense of the other. What it offers is a plan which would do away with provincial responsibilities may be clearly defined, each authority allocated means with which to carry on its functions, and the burden of taxation lightened by the federal assumption of provincial debts. The plan is subject to amendment of course, but if amended as demanded which would destroy its purpose, the conference will be a failure, perhaps something worse than a failure.

Some Dominion-provincial conferences might better never have been held. May that not be true of this one.

R.A.F. planes in the Mediterranean area found time to go around and bomb fortified positions in the Dodecanese islands and in particular Rhodes, which is a British base from getting London and feeling they were being left out of the war.

Sir Walter Clifline, secretary of the British Trade Union Congress, said in San Francisco that British war workers have been putting in from 72 to 80 hours per week on the job. This means from 10 to 11 hours a week, seven days in the week. It is easy to understand Sir Walter's further statement that the working hours have been shortened because production was falling off through extra weariness of the workers. The human machine has been running at a strain and still run at full speed.

The Fascist high command seems to have made the primary mistake of not recognizing the difficulty by eating a pound less per head between now and the first of April. The point seems to be that the restriction is not generally doing with less, consumers in some centres will do with little.

From The News Side Glances

By Harold L. Weir

Great credit attaches to the Edmonton Little Theatre for its production of The Temple which opens today in the Grand Temple.

In times like these when the total strength of the English-speaking nation is engaged in an effort to preserve the British culture and the British way of life which are our priceless possessions, it is most fitting that the artistic and literary activities of the Canadian people should be turned towards that end.

There is not much stress in fighting for something, but not thoroughly understood.

The presentation of this magnificent play by the world's greatest poet teaches us appreciation of the splendor of British literature and the power of the English language. It wholesomely reminds us, in a timely fashion, of the necessity of that which is called the nation's fighting to maintain.

The Edmonton Little Theatre does a national service in presenting a Shakespearean play and doing well.

It deserves the fullest popular support and I would urge everyone to see it tonight, Thursday or Friday night.

There is another pleasant thing to be said about the Edmonton Little Theatre and it is this:

The cultural genius of the British people lies in particular in the power of the word. Both in games and in art, the British would rather play an active part than remain a mere onlooker on the sidelines.

Not does he take his political responsibilities as a citizen, but he takes his responsibilities for the fact that you will find him in the middle of every war that has been fought for the sake of justice over the past five hundred years.

The Britisher makes a poor onlooker. If there is a game to be played, an elevating thought to be expressed or a truth to be scathed, he wants to be in the doing of it, and not only the seeing of it.

But as far as the theatre affords an opportunity and an outlet for this British passion for self-expression and participation. It is a valuable and a healthy influence in the life of the community.

Ida Lupino rushes into the news today with a loud snuff at the New Year's selection of the "let's beat the Germans" campaign.

Miss Lupino quarrelled with the idea, not based on sartorial grounds but on the fact that she and her husband are not looking outside the lines of the community.

She says they were afflicted with "Gotham myopia and Broadway provincialism."

It is a resounding phrase and, strangely enough, no less effective because it happens to be true.

Not by this delusion of exclusive grandeur unshared by certain communities in Canada. We too have our myopic eastern parishes that look back at Canada and elsewhere near Manitoba and that inhabitants of the land are fastenings were created expressly for financial escapism.

The Edmonton police commissioners are preparing a report to council on recent charges leveled against the police department of this city.

Good government can only hope it will be complete enough either to warrant a full investigation of the department or to close the door to the department crisis.

If there is anything basically wrong with the police force, the commissioners, as honest men, should have a suspicion of it. They should have the matter wide open for full investigation.

So far as we are aware at the present time, the criminal commission is not such as to cause the slightest alarm. Crime index for the year 1939 will be lower than for other cities of this size. Burglary index for instance, is lower than it is at the Coast.

A safe answer to these critics, one way or another, is necessary because constant pin-pricking is the most vicious thing that can happen to any police department.

By Galbraith

Senator Wheeler would have the United States government intervene in the war with an eight-point program for the settlement of European questions.

Thus, in point one he believes that the "working basis" of a just peace is the restoration of Germany's 1914 boundaries. But in point three he believes that the military activities which in 1914 was German should be restored to France.

In point four he proposes the restoration of independent France, Holland, Norway, Belgium and Luxembourg. He does not mention Austria, which in 1914 was not within the German boundaries. His general idea is that the United States should support the restoration of the 1914 boundaries.

Senator Wheeler may think he is proposing a settlement which is reasonable that it might not be without further thought. But in fact he is proposing a set of terms for the war which will require not only the total defeat of Hitler but the dismemberment of Greater Germany.

It is a curious thing that a proposed settlement which is so desirable for the United States is so repulsive to the people of Europe. The restoration of the 1914 boundaries is a desirable thing for the United States, but it is a repulsive thing for the people of Europe.

Today And Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

Senator Wheeler would have the United States government intervene in the war with an eight-point program for the settlement of European questions.

Thus, in point one he believes that the "working basis" of a just peace is the restoration of Germany's 1914 boundaries. But in point three he believes that the military activities which in 1914 was German should be restored to France.

In point four he proposes the restoration of independent France, Holland, Norway, Belgium and Luxembourg. He does not mention Austria, which in 1914 was not within the German boundaries. His general idea is that the United States should support the restoration of the 1914 boundaries.

Senator Wheeler may think he is proposing a settlement which is reasonable that it might not be without further thought. But in fact he is proposing a set of terms for the war which will require not only the total defeat of Hitler but the dismemberment of Greater Germany.

It is a curious thing that a proposed settlement which is so desirable for the United States is so repulsive to the people of Europe. The restoration of the 1914 boundaries is a desirable thing for the United States, but it is a repulsive thing for the people of Europe.

SOCIAL CREDIT MEET TO NAME SEAT NOMINEE

Committee To Choose Candidate For Camrose By Election

Selection committee of the Alberta Social Credit League met at the legislative buildings Wednesday afternoon to name a candi-

Three names were chosen at a recent nominating convention and from these a final choice will be made.

The prospective standard-bearers are Mrs. J. Tucker and Morley Westgate, Camrose, and C. J. Sayers, Meeting Creek. All three have been invited to appear before the selection committee.

On the committee are members of the board of management of the Social Credit League, members of the constituency association concerned and cabinet ministers who are invited to sit in.

Selection is expected to be made by nightfall, after the candidates have appeared before the board and given an outline of their views on various matters and reasons in support of their candidature.

Groups Raising Ambulance Funds

Robert Muir, secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, presided that at least three groups of foreign-born or foreign-descent citizens of Edmonton district are conducting separate campaigns among themselves to buy ambulances for the British Red Cross. Each ambulance costs about $1,750 and the funds will go to Britain through the Canadian Red Cross, Mr. Muir said.

Prunes Provide Variety Of Good Winter Dishes

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
A little prune magic is very much in order right now, while this dried fruit is so plentiful. Prunes are a between-season and all-season fruit, with excellent keeping qualities. Each pound yields about 12 servings at a surprisingly low cost.

They supply iron and furnish some calcium. These two minerals depend on prunes for vitamin C, because most of that important vitamin is lost when the prunes are dried.

Wash the prunes and put them in a saucepan, cover with hot water, and let them soak for about an hour. Then put the prunes on to cook in the same water. Cook them for about half an hour, or until they are tender. To sweeten, add about 2 tablespoons of sugar for each cup of prunes just before they are done. A little salt added at the cooking time and a sprinkling of lemon juice at serving time enhance their flavor. If the prunes are intended as part of a home-canned recipe, remove them hot, adding sugar and spice and vinegar while they cook. Or the juice from a jar of pickled fruit will give just the right blend of sweet-sour-spice for toning up.

PRUNES WITH CEREAL

When prunes go into cooked cereal, it may be either used as a dessert or eaten as a snack over-night. In the morning while the cereal is cooking, remove the pits and chop the prunes. Cook them with the cereal long enough to heat through.

Stuffed prunes make a good salad ingredient when combined with cooked, fresh peas, sliced almonds, grapefruit sections, pieces of pineapple, or peach halves. Cook the prunes until soft, cut a

What To Do

An illustration showing three people, two men and one woman, looking down at a large sheet of paper, likely a sewing pattern, which is spread out on a surface. The man on the left is wearing a suit and tie, the woman in the middle is wearing a light-colored dress, and the man on the right is wearing a suit and tie. They are all looking intently at the pattern.

MISS M. C. C.

It all depends on the boy. If he is helpful and you happen to be one of a large family, it might be better not to introduce him to every one the first time he calls.

But be sure to ask him to come in while you put on your coat and hat. And, of course, introduce him to your mother and to any other members of the family who happens to come into the living room before you get started on your way.

is allowed for, namely, a further $230,000, the improvement to a people would amount to $400,000, but is not a fair allowance, since it is certain that immediately following implementation of recommendations, the Dominion would reduce the provincial debt at a lower rate of interest, perhaps at three and one-half per cent. Mr. Lang, however, said that the benefit would be to the people, since it would not be said that our people would have saved the full load of present taxes, even if the Dominion agreement should result in the immediate implementation of the recommendations. The savings effected in the province of refunding should be credited to the province and therefore should be used to allow the full effect of the Dominion responsibility in the debt is concerned.

"At 3 1/2 per cent, there would be savings of about $1,573,000 at the full rate as now stipulated," Mr. Lang said. "The total implementation of the Rowell-Sirois recommendations would result in a net loss to the people of Alberta of about $121,100 based on the rate of interest of 3 1/2 per cent 1939-1940 and assuming the refunding of the debt at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent."

Mr. Lang urged every Albertan to support the recommendations and suggestions, as well as the effect of the implementation of the recommendations.

mental services from available resources.

He took exception to the feeling by the commission, that Canadian governments, as far as possible, should be not under the political party control.

He declared the commission did not recognize the fact that the common people haven't been able to produce the goods, without first producing goods.

There is no suggestion in the report that the position of the average man is that he can pay his taxes," said Mr. Lang.

He wondered if the commission had achieved its purpose in suggesting means of relieving the distress and strains to which it referred.

Alberta, he estimated, contributed $180,000,000 annually in tariff charges to the rest of Canada. On the basis of the incidence of tariff, he estimated that the province could be shipped from the east, through to the Pacific coast and then to the west coast, at a rate that if shipped direct from east to west coast.

Mr. Lang thought it was wise to consider whether the report suggested the Dominion government, the provincial government, the municipal government, the unincorporated government, and the Dominion government machinery.

"Will implementation of the report figure out the people pay their debts and get fair return for their property?" he asked.

He asked whether the report would be the wage earner, land and home owners to pay their taxes?
